No-Fault
It occurs to us that the folks in California who are worried about a chunk of their state falling in the sea due to earthquakes certainly ought to be interested in "no-fault" insurance. —Memphis (Tenn.) Commercial Appeal

Migrating Armadillos
Scientists who keep tabs on the climate have observed a sign which may indicate the next ice age is on the way. The sign is the movement of the humble armadillo, himself a survivor of several previous ice ages.

Armadillos, we're told, are fond of warm latitudes. Before 1914, the animals ventured no further north than northern Mexico and southern Texas. After that, however, they migrated north and by 1949 made their homes in Oklahoma and Arkansas. By the 1960s they had reached Nebraska, where Dr. Charles B. Schultz of that state's university, reports the populace was quite unprepared for them. "It scared people to death to go out in their backyards and see one," Dr. Schultz observed.

Recently armadillos started migrating southward, possibly foretelling an incipient ice age. Indeed, the armadillo has vanished from the midwestern plains. If the evidence is supported, there seems little to worry about for now. Some estimates are that it would take at least 5,000 years for a new ice age to become full-fledged. That old coat will do for another winter. —Charlotte (N.C.) News

Pretty Hard To Swallow
A $16.06 meal for $1.51 may be a bargain on the menu, but not out in the kitchen. Sen. Margaret Chase Smith gave this example from the Transportation Department's executive luncheon to show how federal bureaus are using tax funds to subsidize meals served at cut-rate prices.

While American housewives are paring their grocery lists to cope with inflation, executives at the Treasury Department are paying $2.45 for a meal which costs $14.31 to prepare. Lawyers and the Justice Department pay $1.66 for a $7.10 lunch. Mrs. Smith hopes to blow the whistle on this extravagance with some legislation. Meanwhile, how about offering the taxpayer some cut-rate bicarbonate of soda? —Gastonia (N.C.) Gazette

The Doctor's In
Can't get a doctor to come out at night? A Miami medical service advertises that it has a solution. It promises to send a doctor for a house call anywhere within the city between 6 p.m. and 6 a.m. The fee: $20. Anyone complaining of the price no doubt will be told to compare it with the cost of being admitted to a hospital in order to get a doctor's attention. They have a point. And they'll probably have quite a few calls. —Tampa (Fla.) Tribune

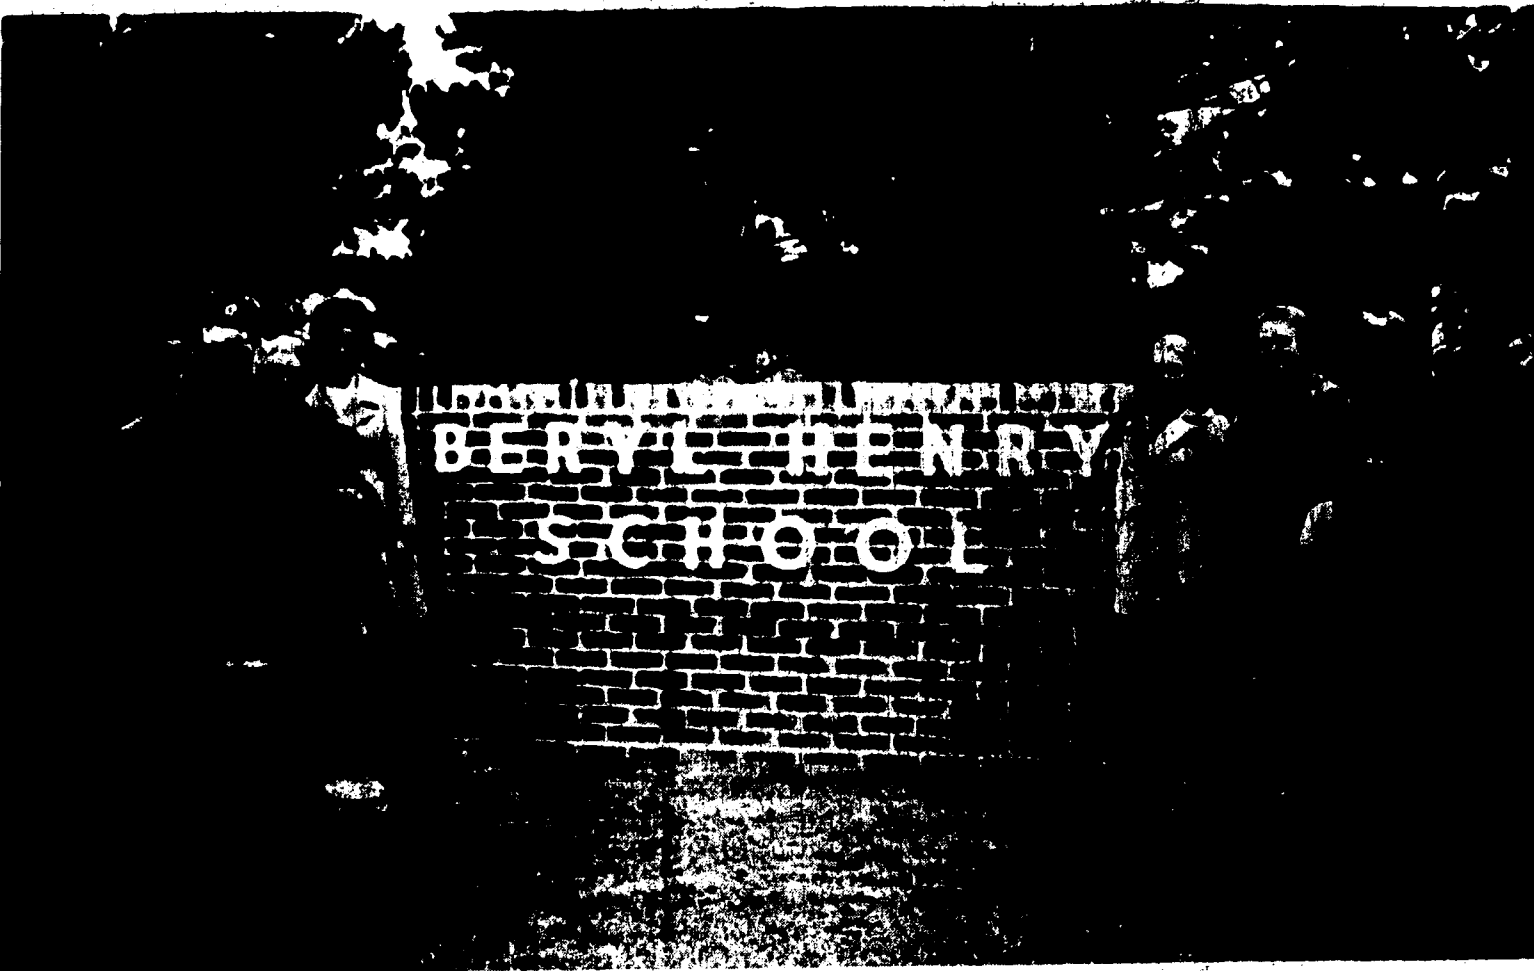

Satellite to Tell News of China Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fourth-generation communications satellite that will relay to the world instant news coverage of President Nixon's China visit is scheduled to go into operation today. And plans for live television coverage of Nixon's historic tour are being expanded in the expectation that a second made-in-U.S.A. ground station will be operating from Shanghai by Feb. 24. The Shanghai station, like one already set up in Peking, will beam TV images, written news reports and news pictures to the new satellite which will relay them to a receiving station in California. An Intelsat IV commercial satellite will be the vital link in permitting instant coverage of Nixon's activities in China. Originally, the three major TV networks had planned live

Group Pays Tribute to a Charter Member

As a tribute to a charter member of its organization, Chapter AE, P.E.O. recently had a sign constructed at Beryl Henry Elementary School.

Miss Henry, a former superintendent of Hope Public Schools, was a charter member of AE when it was organized in April 1947 and served as President of the organization from 1950-52. She now makes her home in Benton where she is an active member of AX.

The Hope Chapter was assisted in its project by a class from Red River Vocational Technical School who volunteered their time and services to do the masonry work, under the supervision of their instructor Jack Ashworth.

Congress Pushed on Strike Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is being pushed toward reluctant action on strike legislation that is opposed by organized labor and most business interests.

Under the persistent prodding of President Nixon and the progress of the long West Coast dock strike, key House and Senate committees have agreed to consider long-bottled-up bills designed to prevent crippling strikes in the transportation industry.

Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-

W.Va., chairman of the House Commerce Committee, plans to take up the bills early next month. And Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, has set March 29 for the start of a bill-writing effort.

Neither chairman is guaranteeing that a bill will be produced, but the fact drafting sessions are even being held is one of the most significant developments in labor law since passage of the Landrum-Griffin Act in 1959.

It was the difficulty the Democratic leadership had in 1960 in defeating a long series of antiunion amendments that is the main reason no major labor legislation has reached the House or Senate floor since then.

However, eight times in the last seven years Congress has been forced to deal with labor-management disputes on a stopgap basis and the feeling in the House and Senate is that the limit has just about been reached.

"I think there is a good chance there will be a bill on the Senate floor this year," says a labor lobbyist who shudders at the thought. "Certainly there will be one if Congress has to act soon again on an emergency basis."

The dismay of the labor lobbyist is shared by many members of Congress in both parties and by business leaders who are strongly opposed to the compulsory-arbitration features of the proposed bills.

Only One Vet Was Present

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —

Just one veteran of the Spanish-American War was on hand Sunday at the annual Remember the Maine ceremonies held on board the USS Olympia, Adm. George Dewey's flagship during the war.

Leidy Howard, 94, who was a Marine for five years, was the lone veteran present as two floral wreaths were thrown into the Delaware River, where the Olympia is berthed as a museum.

The ceremony is held each year to honor the 266 men who died on Feb. 15, 1898, when the battleship USS Maine sank in Havana harbor following a mysterious explosion.

24-Hour Ceasefire Halts Air Strikes

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — A 24-hour allied ceasefire for the Tet holiday halted one of the biggest U.S. air campaigns of the war in South Vietnam today after more than 800 strikes in six days. Scores of U.S. bombers were diverted to Laos to attack North Vietnamese supply lines there.

The U.S. Command reported that Navy and Air Force fighter-bombers flew 176 strikes in South Vietnam during the 24 hours before dawn today, and B-52 heavy bombers added another 27 missions, the most flown since June 1968.

This brought the total since

Wednesday to 786 strikes, and informants said more raids between dawn and dusk today pushed the total past 800. The heavy air offensive was ordered in an attempt to ward off a big enemy offensive which U.S. officials predict this month, either during the Tet festival of the lunar new year or during President Nixon's visit to China.

The allied truce went into effect at 6 p.m. Saigon time, or 5 a.m. EST, 17 hours after a four-day Viet Cong ceasefire began.

The South Vietnamese command reported four enemy attacks during the Viet Cong ceasefire, including the assassination of a hamlet chief and a soldier in the northern provinces and a ground attack in coastal Binh Dinh Province that killed five government militiamen and wounded two.

U.S. air and ground patrols clashed twice with enemy troops Monday. One man in a ground patrol was wounded six miles northwest of Cam Ranh Bay, and spokesmen said it was not clear who fired first. In the Mekong Delta, helicopter gunships attacked a squad of enemy troops and killed seven of them, the command said.

But a spate of scattered actions was reported Sunday, and a U.S. fighter-bomber made the 38th strike inside North Vietnam this year, attacking an anti-aircraft artillery radar site 50 miles above the demilitarized zone. Results were not known.

American bombers and rocket-firing helicopter gunships killed 52 enemy troops in South Vietnam's central highlands, the U.S. Command said.

U.S. troops helping patrol the eastern flanks of Saigon, clashed twice with enemy forces about 20 miles east of the capital. A light observation helicopter supporting them was shot down, killing one American crewman and wounding another. One man was wounded in the ground fighting and six of the enemy were reported killed.

The 133,000 U.S. troops still in Vietnam were put on a heightened alert for the Tet period and ordered to stay out of cities and towns except on essential official business.

Red China's official Peking People's Daily condemned the stepup in the U.S. air war and said, "The recent war blackmail and aggressive acts of U.S. imperialism have completely exposed its lies about peace."

Boswell Announces for U.S. Senate

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) —

Ted Boswell, a Bryant attorney who overcame political obscurity to finish a close third in the 1968 Democratic gubernatorial primary, has entered the race for the U.S. Senate.

Boswell, 39, announced his decision Saturday to the delight of about 150 cheering supporters. Boswell's action assures Sen. John L. McClellan of his first serious opposition in 18 years.

McClellan, 75, formally announced Friday that he would run for a sixth term.

Boswell said McClellan's age will be an issue in the race and wasted no time in attacking the senator's contention that the seniority he has acquired in 29 years in the Senate is an asset for Arkansas.

"If the seniority system is so good, why is Arkansas 49th and 50th in everything," he asked. Boswell was interrupted frequently by applause while he read a four-page speech. He charged that traditional political institutions have failed to deliver either what they promise or what the nation needs.

"Progress may well be our most important problem," he said. "The plain, hard fact is that many of our most serious national and state problems stem from the failure of our institutions to adopt to change."

Boswell outlined the nation's major problems—inflation, pollution, crime, poverty, war—and said, "In an attempt to solve these problems, we relied on politicians with seniority, ad-agency smiles, or catchy slogans, who promised to create a great society or to bring us together again. But these promises never panned out, and we should have learned a very important lesson: problems cannot be solved with promises and half-measures."

Boswell said after the talk in a question and answer session that he opposes the basic concept of the seniority system, which concentrates power in the hands of a few, and that, if elected, he would work to end it.

Fire Damages Bottling Firm

BLYTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Officials of the Pepsi Cola Bottling Co. estimated that a fire which destroyed 60 percent of the company's building late Sunday afternoon caused an estimated $250,000 damage.

Fire department officials said the cause of the blaze, which started in the front portion of the building which housed the offices, was not known.

Even though the front wall of the plant's building collapsed, none of the 40 firemen at the scene were injured.

British Begin a 3-Day Work Week

By FRED COLEMAN
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — British industry began a three-day week today and the government warned of a total shutdown in two weeks if the coal strike doesn't end.

Up to a third of the nation's 24 million workers were threatened with losing their jobs, at least temporarily. For all it was a day of dark, cold homes, cold meals and delays or cancellations of electric commuter trains as the power was cut off in rotation for varying periods around the nation.

Trade and Industry Minister John Davies charged that the miners were "holding the country to ransom" and "warned that the nation could come to a standstill."

"Within two weeks or so, at the present rate of run-down, virtually all domestic and industrial supplies will be cut off more or less the whole time," he said. "We would be moving into a situation here we could not be sure of maintaining the essential services."

However, Britain has 44 oil, nuclear, natural gas and hydroelectric power stations that can meet approximately 25 percent of the nation's demand and keep most essential services operating. The government could also order the army to move available coal supplies into generating plants.

With the strike in its sixth week, a panel headed by Lord Wilberforce starts hearings on the strike issues Tuesday. It said it hoped to have recommendations for a settlement

China Visit Near, Nixon Seeks More Information

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — With his departure for Peking only three days off, President Nixon has asked his staff for more information and called in French intellectual Andre Malraux for expert answers on China.

Nixon has been preparing for months for his historic talks with Chinese leaders and has everyone doing homework on it. That's the reason for today's White House meeting with Malraux, the former French cultural minister.

Nixon, in disclosing plans for the meeting, said he was impressed with Malraux' analysis, in his "Antimemoires," of China and Communist Chairman Mao and Premier Chou En-lai.

Nixon still is not satisfied with the mountains of material he's been provided. Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon, returning from Florida Sunday night, had asked the National Security Council for more answers.

The China trip is considered so sensitive in the White House that for a time members of Nixon's advance teams didn't want to talk about the books Nixon was reading on China, or even to give an opinion of what they thought of Peking duck.

One insider conceded: "There's an extra dimension of secrecy to avoid expectations that couldn't be fulfilled."

But, the process of getting the President briefed and ready was begun well before Henry Kissinger's secret trip to Peking in July 1971.

Literally hundreds and hundreds of pages—perhaps 50 pounds, an aide estimates—have been compiled for Nixon by the State Department, National Security Council, Central Intelligence Agency and individual experts. There are huge notebooks filled with political, cultural and historical information.

Malraux isn't the only China-watcher to get the call. Many other recognized authorities "with a feel for the Peoples Republic of China," including authors, diplomats and journalists, have been tapped, the White House says.

However, spokesmen generally have shied away from identifying these sources.

But, it has been disclosed that the President also read some works of two China scholars at Harvard: historian John King Fairbank's book "The United States and China" and political scientist Ross Terrill's two recent articles in the Atlantic Monthly.

Nixon has been clued in by his advance-team members with their personal appraisals from talks in Peking with Chou. And he has carefully gone over the stenographic transcripts of meetings Kissinger and his deputy, Brig. Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., had with Chou.

Nixon has been getting what Haig calls "a spectrum of conflicting viewpoints on the various aspects of the China problem." But, when asked what the main problems are, Haig dodged: "I can't get into that."

Henry Kissinger has been conferring with Asian scholars since early in the Nixon administration, intensifying his efforts in the past six or seven months since the closely held secret of the China trip was finally let out.

On his own staff and in the official party, Nixon has men who have studied China for many years. Two who are going along, John Holdridge, senior member of the NSC staff, and Alfred le S. Jenkins, the State Department's director for Asian Communist affairs, speak Chinese.

One thing his advisers think Nixon has going for him is that the advance teams report every sign from the Chinese suggests they want this trip to go well, too. And, as one advance put it: "They're great organizers."

Nixon has had the aid of a house expert of his own since last August, when he named Richard H. Solomon, University of Michigan political science professor, as a consultant on the China trip. Among his duties, Solomon said, was preparation of background papers and briefings on the internal political situation in China.

Nixon has available all sorts of advice—even down to the Chinese cuisine. While members of Nixon's first advance team were so close-mouthed they wouldn't even talk to reporters about what they ate, they're now leaking a few tidbits. It is learned, for example, that one dish they were served included sea slugs.

"Distinct and different," was Haig's appraisal of that dish, "it wasn't in any way shocking to me."

And a number of Nixon staffers rate the Peking duck great.

Activists Get Grant

Corpus Christi, Tex. (AP) — A church grant to an activist Mexican-American group has prompted the 60-county Episcopal Diocese of West Texas to take a stand against funding politically oriented organizations.

Delegates to the diocese's 68th annual council have passed a resolution stating that "grants to organizations engaged in political activities, or to any political party, are clearly a misuse of church funds."

Legislature Moves Into 2nd Week

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The special session of the Arkansas General Assembly moves into its second week today with hopes of adjourning Tuesday.

The chief obstacle to a Tuesday adjournment is Gov. Dale Bumpers' drug control bill.

The House reconvenes at 10 a.m. today, the Senate at noon.

The drug bill has been tied up by parliamentary procedure in the Senate. Thirty amendments have been prepared for consideration in the House, although many probably will not be considered.

"The drug bill is not controversial on what the people want to accomplish—it's controversial on how to get there," said Speaker Ray Smith Jr. of Hot Springs.

"There is agreement on the objective to get the pusher, to provide rehabilitation and make it more difficult to obtain drugs," Smith said.

Most of Bumpers' program has passed at least one of the houses and does not appear to face much trouble in the house where it is still pending.

Besides the drug control bill, the two houses also have not reached agreement on a bill changing the primary election dates and establishing new procedures for selecting delegates to the national nominating conventions.

after Diocesan Bishop Harold Gosnell charged that a church committee made a grant to the Mexican-American Youth Organization (MAYO) despite his opposition.

The council's protest resolution also said grants to politically active groups "raise a serious question as to the status of the Episcopal Church as a tax free institution."

It was addressed to the Southwest regional committee of the church's General Convention Youth Program, to the Diocesan executive council, and to the church's general convention.

Meeting in its final business session Saturday, the council also called for changes in the way decisions on grants are made at the national level.

In his opening address to the council last Thursday, Bishop Gosnell said the youth committee made a grant to MAYO for a WATS (wide Area Telephone Service) line in Texas, despite protests from himself and Bishop James Milton Richardson of Houston.

He said he "strenuously objected" to the Mayo grant because MAYO members "forcibly occupied a Presbyterian church in Houston in 1970 and relinquished it only on a mandate from a Houston court."

The church takeover occurred during a lengthy Mexican-American school boycott.

Bishop Charles James Kinsolving of New Mexico and Southwest Texas also objected to two grants proposed in his diocese, Bishop Gosnell reported. Amounts of the various grants and other details were not disclosed.

Death Row Dwellers Plan Appeals

By DOUG WILLIS

Associated Press Writer

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — There won't be a bloodbath along San Quentin's death row—home of such condemned men as Sirhan B. Sirhan and Charles Manson—if the U.S. Supreme Court rules that the death penalty is constitutional, California officials say.

That's because all but a handful of the 105 men and women now on the nation's most populous death row have appeals either on file or ready to file immediately if the current unofficial moratorium on executions is lifted.

Sirhan and all five members of the Manson clan who were condemned to die last year have appeals pending in state or federal courts that have blocked setting of their execution dates.

So do more than 70 other men on the row at San Quentin, where one-seventh of the nation's nearly 700 condemned men and women live.

A decision could come anytime after Feb. 21, when the Supreme Court reconvenes. California officials say they expect it not later than midspring.

Basis of the death penalty challenge is the contention that it is cruel and unusual punishment—prohibited by the Constitution.

Probably no more than three or four persons would be executed during the first 60 days after the court ruling if the constitutionality of the death penalty is upheld, said Robert L. Eklund, California's deputy director of corrections.

After that, the rate would probably be even slower, Eklund predicted, and executions dates would not be set "for many months, at least" for Sirhan and Manson clan members.

Twenty of death row's residents are pinning their hopes for life almost entirely on the Supreme Court.

Those 20 men—death row's longest-time residents—have exhausted most other appeals and live now only because of court stays halting their executions until the Supreme Court ruling is announced.

A ruling against the death penalty would mean immediate reclassification of all 105 death row inmates as life termers.

Since 1938, 190 men and four women have been executed in San Quentin's apple-green gas chamber, built in 1939 and scheduled to shut down by the end of 1974. A new one will be constructed.

But since 1962, when 11 were executed, two executions have been performed—one in 1963 and one in 1967.

A proliferation of appeals caused part of the drop, resulting in 109 new trials for death row inmates. Only 48 of those men returned to the row, most of them during the past two years.

Finally, more and more inmates have been winning stays of executions to await the outcome of the Supreme Court ruling, creating what Gov. Ronald Reagan's clemency secretary, Herbert Ellingwood, calls a sort of case-by-case moratorium.

Death convictions have continued in California courts at the rate of 10 to 15 per year and death row—originally just one block of 52 cells—has been expanded twice and split between two about 100 feet apart deep inside the fortress-type walls of the prison.

Only a few well-known figures are now on California's death row—Sirhan, the convicted assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, and Charles Manson, leader of a clan convicted last year of the Sharon Tate murders.

Most of the death row inhabitants are poorly educated and held unskilled jobs, if any, before conviction. Only one has a college degree. Twenty-nine are black, and 10 are of other minority races. There are five women under a sentence of death.

Three of Manson's convicted accomplices, Susan Atkins, Leslie Houten and Patricia Krenwinkel, are in a special women's section of the row built at the California Institute for Women at Frontera.

Because of the success of individual appeals in delaying cases, only two cases have gone to Reagan for clemency during his six years as California chief executive.

Early Vote Discredited

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jack Coleman, a candidate for Congress in the 4th District, says a "select few" in the legislature want an early election to catch voters by surprise and make it easier for incumbents to be re-elected.

Coleman made the remarks at a news conference Saturday. The newest legislation pending at the Capitol sets the dates as May 30 for the first primary and June 13 for the runoff. A 1971 law set the primaries on June 17 and July 11. The law also required election of delegates to national party conventions, and these dates had to be changed if Arkansas Democrats were to elect delegates in time to get them certified for the convention.

Gov. Dale Bumpers' call for a special legislative session includes a change of election law and Democratic leaders have urged that the provision for electing delegates be repealed. However, the only talk about readjusting primary dates came Friday when an aide to Bumpers said the election might move a week in either direction because the May 30 date was the day after the Memorial Day holiday.

Coleman declined to link Bumpers to what he called an effort to confuse voters and guarantee a light turnout on election day, although it is generally believed that the governor set the election dates.

Some say the governor is for the new dates and some say he is not," Coleman said. He also said he planned to talk to Bumpers Monday to find out "whether he is for or against."

Church Women
A good hot lunch is as much enjoyed by women as by men, so, by popular request, the luncheon at the First United Methodist Church on Thursday, February 17 from 11 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. will be served to men and women alike for only $1.50 per plate.

The food committee from Circle 5, WSCS, is Mrs. Charles Burtch, Mrs. Matt McCauley, Mrs. Paul Bain and Mrs. Robert Parham, and they have planned a menu that will include chicken spaghetti, tossed green salad, hot bread, a choice of pie, freshly brewed coffee or iced tea.

Come one, come all to the Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church for a good meal Thursday, February 17 from 11 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. Tickets are $1.50 each with the proceeds to be used for the building fund of the new church.

W.M.A. Meets

The Senior W.M.A. of the Garrett Memorial Baptist Church met Wednesday, February 9, in the home of Mrs. Wade Warren.

The President, Mrs. Sidney Churchwell, presided and Mrs. Fannie Bohannon led in the opening prayer. The group was led in singing by Mrs. B. M. Hazzard, with Mrs. Ruth Johnston at the piano.

The Program Chairman, Mrs. Ted Purtle, introduced the program on the subject of "Christian Resolutions". Those taking part on the program were: Mrs. Ruth Johnston, giving the first part, "To Love My Savior More". The second part, by Mrs. Joe Harmon, "To Love My Church More". Mrs. B. M. Hazzard gave the third part on the subject of "To Love My Fellowman". Mrs. Clyde Johnson led in the closing prayer.

The hostess served a salad with cold drinks or coffee to the twelve members present and one guest, Miss Gwen Frith.

Valentine Tea

A Valentine Tea honoring a recent bride, Mrs. John David Pope, nee Linda Luck, was given at the Douglas Building Thursday, February 10 with a large number of guests calling during the appointed hours.

Hostesses were Mesdames Houston Gunter, Ed Thrash, Dick Hoggard, Cecil Bumpers, Carter Russell, Kelly Walton, Carlton King, Arlis Trout, Benny Coleman, Owen Hollis, Jimmy Miller, Tilman McLellan and William Jones.

The honoree was attired in a mint green ensemble with a wrist corsage of pink, white and red hearts and flowers. Her mother, Mrs. Steve Atkins, wore blue and had a pink and white carnation corsage.

A pink Valentine motif was used where the guest book was placed amidst pink and white scented carnation candles on a pink satin ribbon cloth. The tea table was overlaid with a white ribbon cloth and centered with pink, white and red carnations. Silver and crystal appointments were used to serve frosted pink punch, hot spiced tea, pink snowballs, nuts and mints.

Many lovely gifts, including a silver tray from the hostesses, were displayed with pictures taken at the wedding and on the night of the party.

Coming, Going

Mrs. Steve McClellan went to Little Rock Friday for Sen. John McClellan's formal announcement concerning his plans to run for re-election.

Mrs. McCloughan has returned home after the funeral for her brother-in-law, Leon Simmons, February 4 in Texarkana.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I'd like to poke him in the nose," Noah Dietrich says of author Clifford Irving.

Indications are that Dietrich's reminiscences as a long-time aide to industrialist Howard Hughes, soon to be published, were used at least in part for Irving's purported autobiography of the reclusive billionaire.

For 32 years, Dietrich stood in the long shadow of Howard Hughes.

Now the crusty 83-year-old is in the spotlight and enjoying it immensely.

Dietrich's reminiscences, "Howard—The Amazing Mr. Hughes," will be published late this month by Fawcett. He was asked why he wrote the book.

"I delayed a long time: I left Howard in 1957," Dietrich remarked Sunday. "For a long period I debated whether to write the story, because I didn't want to be accused of pulling a 'kiss-and-tell' act."

"I finally decided that I had an obligation to the American public to show at close hand the abuses of great wealth. I had seen money misused by legislators and other public officials. I was compelled on moral grounds to write the book."

Born in Batavia, Wis., Dietrich was the son of an immigrant German preacher. He was a certified public accountant in Los Angeles in 1925 when hired by a 19-year-old Texas heir, Howard Hughes.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The network channels are ablaze with the splendor and pageantry of ancient days on Sunday night.

There was "Cleopatra" on ABC "Ben Hur" on CBS, and, happily, "Elizabeth Regina" on the Public Broadcasting channels. "Cleopatra," the $40-million film of nine years ago, finally made it to the small screens. A fantastic riot of opulence and mob scenes, the goings-on in Caesar's Rome were very entertaining. The 1959 spectacle "Ben Hur" has been broadcast before, and was also drama painted with a broad brush.

Both were made to be shown on the huge screens of theaters, with the result that the vast scenes with hordes of people tended to look like disturbed ant hills when seen on television screens.

There can be no complaints about "Elizabeth Regina," a BBC import that picks up in a six-part series where "The Six Wives of Henry VIII" left off. With Glenda Jackson playing the vital, fiery daughter of Henry and Anne Boleyn, the first episode concentrated on the rocky road to the Tudor throne—the death of ailing teen-aged Edward VI, and then of Elizabeth's older half-sister, Mary. There were plots, schemes, double-dealing, skulduggery, jealousy and even imprisonment in the Tower of London for the future queen.

The series was made expressly for television and used closeups and comparatively few people to carry the story. The fine acting, authentic costumes and backgrounds, and the well-written scripts made English history come fascinatingly alive.

Earlier on Sunday, Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic Orchestra appeared in a CBS "Young People's Concert." The subject was Franz Liszt and his preoccupation with the legend of Faust. Bernstein's informal and incisive commentary was as lucid as ever and heightened the enjoyment of the music for the average viewer.

ABC on Saturday night took a first, tottering step toward restoring Sherlock Holmes to television. It presented a 90-minute pilot feature, an adaptation of A. Conan Doyle's "The Hound of the Baskervilles."

While it remained fairly faithful to the Conan Doyle story and attempted to recreate the atmosphere of Victorian London and environs, it lost something in the transition. It was hard to accept former matinee idol Stewart Granger in the role of the master detective. Somehow it still belongs to the late Basil Rathbone, the way "Perry Mason" belongs to Raymond Burr and James Bond to Sean Connery.

The story suffered from age and obviousness. And even Holmes' ostentatious detective work came out as a gimmick. Holmes is not alone in the revival move. Charlie Chan will be coming along in a pilot film soon—with Ross Martin playing the inscrutable Oriental. Eve Arden has a pilot in which she plays a lady sleuth of many a book, Hildegard Withers.

A SPRING PRODUCTION HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The Magician," a compelling narrative which depicts a vast gap between law and justice, will go before the cameras next spring.

As I Ponder Your Love

By RANDY JAROCH

Every so often,
far into the night,
California beckons.
The open road,
like a tempting woman

sighs,
whispering promises of adventure.
Inevitably,
you turn to me,
hair mussed,
eyes gently locked in sleep.
Suddenly,
the calls to distant lands
fade within the darkness,
as I ponder your love,
its heights, distances and beauty.
As I ponder your love,
The greatest adventure.

Helen Help Us!

VALENTINE TO A DAUGHTER

Dear Helen:
We just want to write and say thank you for the great job you and Sue are doing. And please, on this Valentine's Day, could we say what perhaps other parents often think but may not always express?

I mean we want to publicly thank our teenage daughter, Robin, for being what she is—wonderful.

With so many teens having problems and so many parents at their wits' end trying to cope with "growing pains," we are the luckiest of parents. Robin's sense of humor when things get tight around here is priceless; her acceptance of responsibility, her willingness to pitch in and help, and her thoughtfulness as well as her appearance, are just a few of the qualities that make life very worthwhile at our home.

Of course none of us is perfect, but whatever imperfections our daughter has are outweighed by the good things about her. We are proud of her, think she is the greatest and love her with all our hearts.

We communicate by typewriter, she and I, which makes it easier when it is difficult to talk about unpleasant or "touchy" topics. Thank goodness for that! —ROBIN'S HAPPY PARENTS

Dear Parents:
You provided a lovely

Valentine for HHU—and Robin, I'm sure, is as lucky as her parents. Thanks so much for writing! —H.

Dear Helen:
My faith in the goodness of my fellowman has been highly justified.

Recently I tripped and took a nosedive into the front bumper of my car in a parking lot. It was a nasty blow, but before I could even think what happened, four or five teenage girls took charge. They made me lie flat and took their own jackets to protect me from the pavement and cover me. Then they worked hard to get the bleeding stopped on my nose and forehead. They wanted to call an ambulance, but I thought I'd better go home, so a nice couple with a baby helped me into their car and took me home, then to the hospital, where X-rays showed I had broken my nose (as one of the girls diagnosed).

The people at the emergency ward were great, too. Don't let anyone ever tell you that Americans are "uninvolved." I know better! I forgot to get the names of any of these good folk, but I want to say, "Thank you so much!" —OLDER CITIZEN FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

Dear Helen:
A reader hit you hard for accepting "unmarried marrieds" who for some reason or other can't make it legal but are still happily united. As one of these, can I give an insider's viewpoint?

Actually, whose business is it but that of the couple involved? In every sense of the word, we're "moral," and I can't see that a little scrap of paper would make us more so.

Under terms of my inheritance, I lose my income if I marry. Call it foolish and even fanatic, but that's the will and it would be hard to break. The man I love doesn't earn enough for both of us to live comfortably. When that time comes, perhaps we'll consider marriage, but I doubt it. It might spoil our love—turn it dull and routine, a have-to thing. There is always the knowledge that if we don't keep trying our damndest, one or the other can walk out. So the relationship remains exciting and very much alive.

We don't drink, smoke, cheat, chase, and we try to help our fellow humans. I very much resent it when a so-called Christian jumps all over you for attempting to understand, or, anyway not condemn. —VERY HAPPY

Dear Readers:

All in all, it's been a good Valentine's Day—don't you think? —H.

Winter Olympics Close in Japan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — The 11th Winter Olympic Games now belong to history and the record books following a finish that was strictly story book.

The 10 days of competition ended Sunday with the United States ice hockey team, which almost didn't qualify for medal competition, winning a silver and a Spanish skier winning a gold, the first medal of any kind his country has earned in Winter Olympics history.

Francisco Fernandez Ochoa's gold medal in the men's special slalom race and the U.S. hockey team's silver, which became reality when the Soviet Union beat Czechoslovakia, wrote an end to the Games which were pocked by controversy away from the athletic venues and by surprises at them.

"We should drop the Winter Games—they are not universal and they foster professionalism, especially in skiing," Avery Brundage president of the International Olympic Committee, said Sunday.

Brundage figured prominently in the Games' major controversy which erupted three days before the start of competition when the IOC banned Austrian Alpine skier Karl Schranz from competition because of commercialism.

Skiing also figured prominently in surprises produced by the competition. Besides Fernandez Ochoa's upset in the men's special slalom, 17-year-old Marie Theres Nadig of Switzerland won the women's downhill and giant slalom, both times edging world champion Annemarie Proell of Austria, and Barbara Cochran of Richmond, Vt., won the women's special slalom.

The silver medal by the U.S. hockey team was the only medal won by the American men in what was their worst Winter Olympic showing ever.

The young and eager U.S. squad had to beat Switzerland before the Olympics officially opened to qualify for Group A and a chance at a medal.

Once in Group A, the Americans went on to upset Czechoslovakia, beat Finland Saturday and ended with a 3-2 record and six points.

Then the Americans sat back and waited for what goalie Michael Curran called "a story book ending," and what Coach Murray Williamson termed "unbelievable."

The U.S. team was assured of at least a bronze medal when Finland upset Sweden 4-3 Sunday. It then got the silver, and the first medal in hockey since the surprise gold in 1960, when the Soviet Union beat Czechoslovakia 5-2 for the title.

Joining Barbara Cochran in a face-saving performance by U.S. women were gold medalists Dianne Holum and Anne Henning, two speed-skating whizzes from Northbrook, Ill.

Miss Holum, the teen-age darling of the 1968 U.S. team when she won a silver and bronze, won her gold in the 1,500 meters and added a silver in the 3,000 meters. The 16-year-old Miss Henning zipped to her gold in the 500 meters and got the bronze in the 1,000 meters.

The three golds were the most won by the United States in the Winter Olympics since they won three in 1960. The U.S. athletes could only bring home one gold each in the 1964 and 1968 Games.

And Miss Cochran's gold was the first for the United States in Olympic Alpine skiing since Andrea Meade Lawrence won the giant and special slaloms in 1952. U.S. men have never won an Olympic Alpine gold.

Other U.S. medal winners here were Susan Corrock of Ketchum, Idaho, a bronze in the women's downhill, and Janet Lynn of Rockford, Ill., a bronze in women's figure skating.

Other highs and lows that marked the 11th Games included:

—Three gold medals by speed skater Ard Schenk of The Netherlands.

—The banishment of West German hockey player Alois Schodell after drug tests showed he had used an illegal drug.

—The 1-2-3 finish by the host Japanese in the 70-meter ski jump.

—The dismal showing by Alpine skiing powers Austria and France. Neither could win a gold in skiing and France failed to get a gold at all. The Austrian gold was won by figure skater Beatrix Shuba.

—The disappointing showing by U.S. figure skaters.

—The victory by Russian Vyacheslav Vedenin in the men's 30-kilometer cross-country ski race for the cross-gold medal of the Games and his tremendous anchor leg that brought the Soviet Union a gold Sunday in the men's 40-kilometer cross-country relay.

Missouri Valley Well Balanced

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

"We're so well balanced that anyone can win."

Coach Denny Crum of Louisville said it about the Missouri Valley Conference, but it might apply to most of the college basketball races this year.

Crum's fourth-ranked Cardinals lead the MVC—but not by much—after Saturday night's 84-66 victory over Tulsa.

In addition to that tight squeeze, where St. Louis and Memphis State have a chance, there are several other titles available:

—Ohio State, the country's No. 7 club, and 19th-ranked Minnesota are tied for the Big Ten lead after victories Saturday. The Buckeyes bounced Purdue 64-62 and the Gophers trimmed Northwestern 78-55.

Michigan is a half-game back. Third-ranked North Carolina and sixth-ranked Virginia are locked in a duel for the Atlantic Coast Conference championship. The Tar Heels defeated Georgia Tech 118-73 in a non-conference game and the Cavaliers whipped Wake Forest 74-47.

—No. 8 Long Beach State kept a piece of the lead in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association with the University of the Pacific after defeating San Diego State 85-68.

—Missouri, No. 17, shared the top spot with Nebraska in the Big Eight after turning back Oklahoma State 80-64. Kansas State has a good chance there, too.

—And ties also exist in the Mid-American Conference between Toledo and Ohio University, in the Ohio Valley Conference between Tennessee Tech, Eastern Kentucky and Morehead State, and in the Big Sky with Weber State and Montana.

In addition, there are other teams with tenuous margins such as top-ranked UCLA in the Pacific-8; Kentucky in the Southeastern Conference, No. 13 Southwest Louisiana in the Southland and No. 5 Penn in the Ivy League.

UCLA kept a one-game lead over Southern California by walloping Washington 109-70; Kentucky kept a nervous half-game lead over Tennessee after beating Mississippi 90-82; Southwest Louisiana remained in front by a half-game over Lamar after an idle weekend and Penn held command over Princeton by one slim game after disposing of Cornell 98-61.

Other races, such as the Western Athletic Conference, the Southern, the Southwest and the West Coast Athletic Conference are all reasonably close.

Brigham Young, the country's No. 10 team, lost to Arizona State 99-85 and in the process lost some of its lead in the WAC as runnerup New Mexico edged closer by beating Colorado State 77-75.

Davidson, the leader in the Southern Conference, lost 86-71 to No. 9 South Carolina. Runnerup Furman made hay by beating Virginia Military Institute 104-66 while the leaders were involved in a non-conference clash.

Southern Methodist University took some of the heat off its front-running position in the Southwest by defeating Texas A&M 75-71. However, there are three other Texas teams in position for a homestretch drive at the title—Texas Tech, Texas and Texas Christian.

Santa Clara broke a tie by beating San Francisco 73-68 in overtime in a close WCAA pay-lane match, but the 49ers, as well as Nevada-Las Vegas, still are very much in that one.

St. Louis kept the heat on Louisville in the MVC with a 67-62 triumph over Drake. Memphis State, the country's No. 15 club, trimmed North Texas State 85-80.

While the league teams kept their hopes alive for a title and berth in the NCAA post-season playoffs, most of the major independents improved their records and chances for at-large berths in the national tourney.

Second-ranked Marquette won its 19th in a row with a 79-56 whipping of Air Force; No. 11 Marshall stopped Bowling Green 91-87; No. 14 Florida State turned back Tulane 94-84; No. 18 Hawaii clipped U.S. International 85-55 and 20th-ranked Duquesne took American University 78-74.

St. Bonaventure defeated No. 12 Providence 98-82 and Cincinnati trimmed No. 16 Jacksonville 88-84 in a pair of upsets.

Something Is Wrong

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — Something has gone wrong with the World amateur ice hockey scene.

The United States, silver medalist in the 11th Winter Olympics which ended here Sunday, is not qualified to play in the A pool of this year's World Championships.

Canada, acknowledged as the leading ice hockey country in the world, is neither in the championships nor the Olympics.

"It's crazy," said Hal Trumble, manager of the U.S. Olympic Hockey team. "A World Championships without Canada or the United States is not a World Championships at all. It's just a European tournament."

The World Championships are scheduled for Prague in early April. They will be contested by Russia, Czechoslovakia, Sweden, West Germany, Finland, and Switzerland.

The Americans have to play in the Class B pool, starting in Bucharest March 25. They must win that pool to get back into the A pool of the 1973 World Championships.

Canada has dropped out of both the World Championships

Lakers Keep Right on Winning

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
How do you stop a speeding Bullet? It's easy if you have the Los Angeles Lakers' ammunition.

The Lakers, badgered by Baltimore rookie Phil Chenier, turned on the power behind Wilt Chamberlain and Jim McMillian to pull away to a 121-110 National Basketball Association victory over the Bulls Sunday.

"We really didn't get going until McMillian started getting some open shots in the second half," said Los Angeles guard Jerry West, who scored 28 points.

Chenier, who scored 28, kept Baltimore in the game until under the three-minute mark.

Then Chamberlain, sidelined portions of the second half for strategic reasons, whipped in a stuff shot for a 106-100 Laker lead with 2:14 remaining. Then McMillian scored four of his game-high 31 points among three Laker baskets for an unsurmountable 112-100 advantage.

In the other NBA games, the Milwaukee Bucks ripped the Boston Celtics 117-109; the Atlanta Hawks stopped the Buffalo Braves 133-119; the Detroit Pistons walloped the Cleveland Cavaliers 136-121; the Golden State Warriors trimmed the Chicago Bulls 107-88; the Houston Rockets defeated the Cincinnati Royals 112-111 and the Seattle SuperSonics stopped the Portland Trail Blazers 127-117 in overtime.

Saturday's NBA results: Milwaukee 123, Golden State 100; New York 106, Cleveland 91; Chicago 117, Atlanta 106; Detroit 113, Buffalo 87; Phoenix 117, Cincinnati 95 and Seattle 125, Portland 97.

Kareem Abdul Jabbar poured in 51 points as Milwaukee broke Boston's nine-game winning streak.

Jabbar scored 27 points in the first half, but the Bucks trailed 56-54 at the intermission. Then Jabbar and John McGlocklin led a second-half rally that pulled it out.

Jo Jo White led the Celtics with 31 points and John Havlicek added 23.

Lou Hudson pitched in 41 points and Herm Gilliam led a third quarter charge that helped Atlanta break open a close game with Buffalo.

Mike Davis topped Buffalo with 28 points, 14 in the fourth period.

Reserve Willie Norwood scored eight points in the opening minutes of the fourth period as Detroit outscored Cleveland 16-4 and went on to beat the Cavaliers.

Jeff Mullins scored 27 points in the first three quarters to help Golden State beat Chicago.

Trainer Is Suspended

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The state Racing Commission has suspended trainer Robert Gallimore after tests showed that a horse that won on opening day at Oaklawn Park had been given amphetamines.

Gallimore was barred from Oaklawn for 21 days, with seven days suspended. He was also placed under probation for the remainder of the 50-day meeting.

Next Friend, trained by Gallimore, was disqualified by the commission and placed last. Skee Rule was declared the winner of the race and the $4,500 purse is to be redistributed.

Rosburg Wins the Bob Hope Classic

By RON ROACH
Associated Press Sports Writer

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — It had been 11 years since Bob Rosburg was a winner and the 45-year-old greybeard of the pro golf tour wasn't sure he could stand the pressure.

"I was ready to start shaking but it never happened," Rosburg said Sunday after collecting $29,000 as the winner of the $145,000 Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic. Lanny Wadkins, 22, of Winston Salem, N.C., was one stroke back and two 24-year-old Californians, Jerry Heard of Visalia and Johnny Miller of Napa, finished two off Rosburg's 90-hole total of 344, under par by 16.

"I was pleased with the way my nerves held up," said Rosburg. "After not having won in 11 years, it's very hard not to look at the bad things that might happen."

Rosburg's pro victories came in the 1959 PGA championship and the 1961 Bing Crosby ProAm.

Rosburg had rounds of 66-69-72-70-67, the first and last at the 6,500-yard Indian Wells Country Club course.

"I went 90 holes without three-putting a green, which around here is wonderful—I'm sure that won me the tournament. I thought I could get by 90 holes without hitting a ball out of bounds, and I did," said Rosburg.

As Rosburg sank five birdie putts ranging from five to 25 feet and played without a bogey in his final round, 72-hole leader Heard had his problems on the second hole, hitting in a tee shot out of bounds into a swimming pool and winding up with a triple-bogey seven. He finished with a 71.

"I just didn't drive well today," said Heard. "I tied for third—not a bad deal. I'm getting closer to it."

Heard and Miller, who shot a 37, won $5,555, and Wadkins, who had 67, pocketed $16,530.

The 5-foot-8½ Wadkins missed a 35 to 40-foot eagle try by about half a foot on the 18th green to prevent a playoff. This was only the second tournament of the year to end after the scheduled number of holes.

Bob Murphy, 29, was fifth with a final-round 66 and 347 total, one stroke better than Arnold Palmer, who had a 69.

Mustangs Lead, Face a Long Road Trip

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
And now for the hard part. There's no rest for Southern Methodist's sizzling Mustangs this week although they've opened up a two game lead in the Southwest Conference basketball race.

The Mustangs take their show on the road with a game Tuesday night in Fort Worth against defending champion Texas Christian and another contest Saturday night in the Ozarks against Arkansas.

SMU, which dropped Texas A&M 75-71 in a clutch contest in Dallas Saturday night, plays four of its last six games on the road.

Mustangs Coach Bob Prewitt could barely enjoy Saturday night's pulsating triumph over A&M before a jammed house of 9,389 fans with reminding everyone of the perils ahead.

"I don't think there will be a commanding position until it's all over," Prewitt said. "We aren't going to surprise anybody the rest of the year."

The Mustangs have pulled plenty of surprises in compiling a 7-1 SWC mark. In fact, SMU has won seven games in a row since Prewitt decided to go with three quick guards in the lineup in a so-called "three-guard" offense.

SMU is frequently out-rebounded like they were 50-32 Saturday night but the Mustangs make up for it in forcing the other team into costly floor errors and with outstanding shooting from the field and free throw line.

In other games Saturday night, Texas, TCU, and Texas Tech joined A&M with 5-3 records in a massive logjam for second place.

Texas thumped Rice 83-67, TCU blasted Arkansas 90-90 and Texas Tech tripped Baylor 80-74.

Baylor is out of it at 3-5. Arkansas is 2-6, and Rice is winless in eight conference games.

Houston, not eligible for the SWC title, has the league's best overall mark of 14-5 as it view for an at-large NCAA berth.

Prewitt said SMU must keep its poise now that it's the No. 1 target in the league.

"Everybody will be looking for us," he said. "When you're on top, they shoot at you."

Other crucial games Tuesday night besides the SMU-TCU tussle, included Arkansas at Texas A&M, Baylor at Texas and Rice at Texas Tech.

Ouachita Is Ahead in Final Stages

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
As Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference basketball heads into its final three weeks, the No. 1 ranked team, Ouachita Baptist University, has emerged the leader by a very slim margin.

Ouachita is 13-2 in conference play, followed by Southern State 15-12-3.

Ouachita had a more substantial lead before dropping a game to Southern State last week, 61-49.

Ouachita managed to pull out a victory over the third-place team, Arkansas Tech. Tech is now tied with Arkansas A&M after last week's basketball action.

Monday's schedule does not pose a serious threat for either team.

Harding will be at Ouachita and UA Monticello will be at Southern State.

Also playing Monday night will be Arkansas College and Hendrix; Arkansas Tech and College of the Ozarks and State College at Henderson.

Ashdown Raps Bobcats 81-43

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Suffering from lack of rebounding and the fate of turnovers and mistakes, the Hope Bobcats fell to an 81-43, bombing by the Ashdown Panthers last Friday night.

Hope next plays Tuesday night at Jones Field House against Arkadelphia, while the Bobkittens travel to the district tournament tonight against Fairview.

Ashdown scored first at the outset of the game on a layup by David Pickett, but a free throw by David Briggs closed the gap, 2-1, with 6:08 left in the period.

Unable to score again, Hope fell behind, 8-1, and Ashdown kept adding on to the score until right before the end of the quarter when Danny Joyce and Briggs hit different shots to pull the Cats back up, to within nine, 18-9.

Outscored, 17-12, in the second period, Hope went into the dressing room at halftime trailing 35-21, with a tough second half yet to come.

Only getting a ten point third quarter on shots by Danny Boyette, Joyce, and Briggs, the Bobcats fell even farther behind as the Panthers poured it on to move into the final period with a 59-31, margin.

Again Ashdown grabbed the tipoff and started the scoring, building a 69-33, margin with 5:55 left in the game. Shots by Bud Cornish Sister finished second her first time out to the speedy Blonde Lady.

Cornish Sister's main competition may come from Idle Lady, third to Blonde Lady last week and two lengths behind Cornish Sister.

Others in the field of six fillies and mares for the six furlong event are Kathy's Doll, Wa Wa Gale, Dolly Hi and Chillin. All will carry 118 pounds.

In Saturday's feature, Hemptens Song jumped off to an early lead and went on to capture the $20,000 Hot Springs Handicap.

Hemptens Song was purchased less than three hours before the race by Dan Lasater of Dayton, Ohio for $150,000.

Hemptens Song, ridden by Phil Grimm, covered the six furlongs in 1:12. She was the only filly in the field of 14.

Larry Snyder failed to ride a winner Saturday but continues to lead in the jockey standings. Snyder has ridden 10 winners, six seconds and two thirds in eight days.

Don Brumfield is second with seven winners, no seconds and two thirds. John Lively, who rode four winners Saturday including both ends of the daily double, is third with six winners, seven seconds and two thirds. D. E. Whited has six winners, two seconds and six thirds.

Grimm is next with five winners and Lonnie Ray has four.

They included delegates from Austria, Czechoslovakia, Norway and West Germany.

Shootout in Southland

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Southland Conference has a big series of shootouts this week which should ultimately determine its basketball champion.

Southwestern Louisiana's Ragin' Cajuns play an important road game tonight.

The Cajuns are 6-0 in the conference race and meet Louisiana Tech, 6-1, tonight.

On Thursday night, Southwestern travels to Beaumont to meet Lamar University, which is 5-0 in league play. However, the game does not count against Lamar's final record because of an intricate schedule formula adopted this season.

Southwestern's Dwight Lamar continues his leading scoring pace last week.

He scored 155 points on a road swing, including 42 against McNeese State, to run his average to 34.9 points per contest.

Southwestern has a 17-2 overall record while Louisiana Tech has a gaudy 19-2 mark—its only conference loss coming from Southwestern 107-86 in January.

Daniels Gets Into Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Mel Daniels got into action just in time for the Indiana Pacers but the Carolina Cougars still report no sign of Jim McDaniels.

Daniels, who sat out the first three quarters to rest a bruised heel, came on in the fourth period and scored 11 points to help the Pacers to a 35-23 edge for the period and a 123-110 American Basketball Association victory over Memphis.

Meanwhile, the Cougars, who won Friday night after McDaniels, the 7-foot rookie, jumped the club, were no match for Kentucky and lost to the Colonels 121-98.

Elsewhere, Dallas outlasted New York 123-117 in double overtime and Virginia nipped Denver 124-123.

Memphis led Indiana for the last time 87-86 with 30 seconds left in the third period. But George McGinnis, who scored 18 of his game-high 28 points in the second half, stuffed in a basket just before the buzzer and the Pacers were ahead to stay. Bill Keller, who hit 19 of his 24 points during the final two periods, then teamed up with Daniels and McGinnis to help the Pacers pull away.

Carolina took a quick 7-1 lead over Kentucky but the Colonels tied it at 10-all and soon were comfortably ahead en route to their 26th triumph in the last 30 games. Dan Issel led the way with 35 points and Artis Gilmore added 23. Gene Little's paced the losers with 24.

ASU Fades in Conference

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Arkansas State University's chance of repeating as Southland Conference basketball champion were severely damaged Saturday night.

The University of Texas at Arlington rallied from a 11-point halftime deficit to whip the Indians 75-71.

ASU is now 3-2 in conference play.

The Indians led 43-32 at the half, but made numerous mistakes in the second half when the Mavericks began to press.

Steve Brooks led the Indians with 24 points and John Belcher contributed 17. Larry Moore scored 16 for Arlington.

ASU plays at Abilene Christian tonight in another conference game.

Bad Time for the Goalies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Despite a record-tying 38th goal, rookie Rick Martin of the Buffalo Sabres wasn't feeling so hot at the end of Sunday night's 4-4 deadlock with Philadelphia, so he figured Flyer goalie Don McLeod should feel some pain, too.

Martin whacked McLeod on the leg with his stick during a goalmouth scramble with 15½ minutes left to play and the goalie came out of it with a painfully sprained knee.

Since all National Hockey League teams dress two goalies, that wouldn't have been so bad ... except that Doug Favell, the Philly starter, was given a heave-ho game misconduct by referee John Ashley late in the second period for arguing too long and too loudly about Buffalo's third goal.

McLeod was helped off the ice by a couple of teammates but was able to continue after a 20-minute respite. Despite obvious pain, he blanked the Sabres the rest of the way and the Flyers earned the tie on Bobby Clarke's goal with 8½ minutes left.

Elsewhere, Boston and Montreal tied 2-2, New York beat Los Angeles 4-2, Chicago defeated Toronto 3-1 and Pittsburgh downed Vancouver 6-4.

Saturday's scores: Boston 5, Buffalo 1; New York 8, Pittsburgh 3; Montreal 6, Los Angeles 5; Chicago 3, Detroit 3; Minnesota 5, Philadelphia 1; St. Louis 5, Vancouver 4; Toronto 3, California 0.

Labor Meeting Flavored Heavily by Politics

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany opens a policy conference heavily flavored with national politics today, keeping Democratic presidential hopefuls guessing about organized labor's support.

Meany even declined to rule out backing President Nixon's re-election.

"The chances are very slim" that the big labor federation would support Nixon, but "I don't want to see him defeated by somebody who is advocating surrender" in Vietnam, Meany said in a copyright interview with U.S. News and World Report.

Democratic presidential candidates, including Sens. Edmund S. Muskie, Henry M. Jackson, Hubert H. Humphrey and George S. McGovern, have been informed they are welcome to drop by and talk to AFL-CIO leaders at their annual winter meetings here.

But the invitation has not been extended to the Nixon administration, reflecting labor's unhappiness with White House economic and foreign policy—including Meany's opposition to Nixon's trip to Red China—and a host of other issues.

Meany led the 13.6 million member federation in heavily backing Humphrey's losing 1968 presidential race against Nixon.

The only Democratic presidential candidates Meany specifically ruled out for AFL-CIO support this year were Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace—because of what Meany said was Wallace's record on civil rights and labor matters—and New York Mayor John V. Lindsay. Meany said Lindsay had done a bad job of running New York.

Meany did not indicate who he thinks is advocating surrender in Vietnam.

Asked whether he would rule out any other Democratic candidates on the basis of their record on domestic social issues that labor supports, Meany said, "It is much too soon to say."

The 77-year-old labor chief-tain's political strategy this year reportedly is to increase labor's influence by keeping the Democrats guessing until the crowded presidential field narrows down toward the time of the party's nominating convention here in July.

"If we said we would support any candidate that the party nominates, it would mean that the Democratic party could take us for granted, and we are not about to be taken for granted," an AFL-CIO source close to Meany said.

3 Die From Poisoning

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Craighead County Coroner Bill Emerson says accidental carbon monoxide poisoning apparently caused the death of three young persons.

The bodies of David Cook, 18, of Jonesboro; Brenda Reeder, 16, of near Jonesboro, and Ricky Hancock, 16, of Cash, were found Saturday morning in a parked car about four blocks east of downtown Jonesboro.

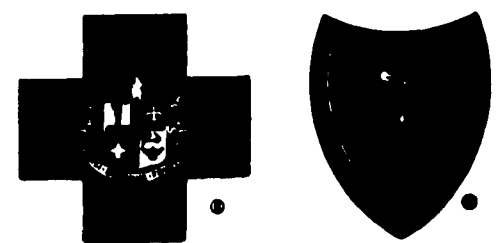

Emerson said the car's engine was still running when the bodies were discovered and that the car had a faulty exhaust system.

The 50 state winners will be eligible for awards totaling $7,000. One boy and one girl will be chosen for national scholarships of $1,000 each to be used at the college or university of their choice. Ten regional winners will also be selected from the remaining state winners to receive $500 regional scholarships.

These Outstanding Teenagers also have the "opportunity to become great national leaders and doers," President Nixon said in a congratulatory message to the nominees.

$111,000 Judgment

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A judgment of $111,000, a record in Arkansas in the death of a child, has been affirmed by the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Total damages awarded to the Lowell R. Connell family of Arkadelphia were $175,000. Mrs. Sarah Lee Connell, mother of the nine-year-old victim, received $50,000 for personal injuries and Connell received $14,000 for medical expenses.

The $111,000 for the death of Roger Connell was divided with $50,000 going to Connell, $50,000 to Mrs. Connell, $9,950 to a sister and $1,050 for medical expenses.

The verdict was against Steel Haulers, Inc. According to testimony, a truck owned by the company collided with the rear of a jeep driven by Mrs. Connell on Interstate 30 near Arkadelphia.

The case was tried before U. S. District Judge Oren Harris at Hot Springs.

In its appeal, the trucking firm contended that the law covering damages for grief of survivors requires that the grief must be "more than the normal grief occasioned by the loss of a loved one." It contended that testimony offered on behalf of the parents demonstrated only normal grief.

"We do not think that the Arkansas law requires that parents of a deceased child necessarily make a public exhibition of their grief before or during trial," the appeals court said.

Would Give Aid to Blacks

MONTICELLO, Ark. (AP) — Rep. David Pryor, D-Ark., says the federal commitment must be increased if the economic plight of blacks is to be improved.

Pryor also told a conference on minority economic development Saturday that the increase must be accompanied by a "change in attitude."

"The federal effort must be encouraged to take some risks, risks because the pattern of black economic growth demands it," Pryor said. "It demands it because the failure to take risks on the side of eliminating unemployment will mean incurring the risk of raising the level of dissatisfaction within the black community."

The congressman said current national attempts to deal with the situation are "partial at best, and offensive at worst."

Pryor also said that economic development means more than jobs.

"It means total development," he said. "The development within the minority community of an entrepreneurial class, a class of owners and managers, it means the elimination of the economic bias against the extension of capital to the minority community, it means a massive effort to lower unemployment, and equally important, it means an end to the enormous under employment within the minority community."

Pryor said the road to these ends must be paved not only with federal money, "it must at least co-equally be paved with the exertion of minority talent and ingenuity."

Connecticut Plans Lottery

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Connecticut becomes the fourth state in modern times to start a lottery when the first tickets go on sale Tuesday.

A total of 3.5 million 50-cent tickets have been printed for sale at 3,000 specially licensed business for the first weekly drawing on Feb. 24.

The top weekly prize is $5,000, but under a complicated system certain tickets could lead to a top prize of $100,000 in periodic drawings held separately from the weekly lottery.

New Hampshire became the first state in modern times to start a state lottery when its lottery was established in 1964. Since then, New York and New Jersey have established state lotteries.

Four persons were killed on Arkansas highways this past weekend.

State Police identified the latest victim as Deanna Ann Vorhease, of near Crossett, who was killed Sunday night as she walked along Arkansas 82 near Crossett.

Police said she was struck by a car driven by Lroy Knight, 54, of near Hamburg. Officials said Knight's license had been revoked earlier for a driving violation.

Officials said Dean W. Jackson, 32, of near Donaldson (Hot Springs County) died in a Little Rock hospital Sunday of injuries he received when his pickup truck overturned Saturday night on Interstate 30 in Little Rock.

Kenneth Bryant, 41, of North Little Rock was killed Saturday in a one-car accident north of Jacksonville.

State Police said Ernest Spencer, 18, of Dumas also was killed Saturday when the car in which he was riding crashed into a bridge west of Dumas.

The Associated Press weekend highway fatality county began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

VD Program Is Planned

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Health Department hopes to initiate a program by April 1 to combat venereal disease throughout the state.

Homer Simpson, who will help head the program, said the department hopes to apply for more than $150,000 in federal funds by March 1.

A survey released last month showed that Arkansas ranked seventh in the country in reported cases of syphilis per 100,000 population and eighth in gonorrhea.

Simpson said a big program in combating the disease is that four of five females who have V-D have no symptoms, "so they don't volunteer to be checked because they don't know they have it."

Crime Chief Quits Post

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — John H. Hickey, former director of the Arkansas Commission on Crime and Law Enforcement, has resigned as regional administrator of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration in Dallas, Tex.

A spokesman for the LEAA said he did not know the circumstances surrounding Hickey's resignation, which is effective March 3.

Hickey took the federal position last August after heading the state crime commission since 1967.

It was revealed last December that Hickey and three other current and former state officials owned or had owned stock in Interlock, Inc., a Texas consulting firm that had obtained more than $600,000 in contracts in Arkansas. All of the contracts had the approval of the crime commission.

The other officials were Ralph D. Scott, former State Police director; Col. William Miller, the current State Police commander and Marshall Rush of Pine Bluff, a member of the state Board of Correction.

All of the officials said they had never realized any profit on their investments in Interlock. Hickey and Miller said they had divested themselves of their interests.

Senate Absenteeism Is at 23 Per Cent Pace

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, its ranks crowded with absent presidential hopefuls and world travelers, is sputtering along so far in the 1972 session with a 23 per cent absenteeism average on votes.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield says his colleagues are lollygagging.

They'd be fired from private industry for such poor performances, says the Montana Democrat who notes the Senate has been operating on a week of three days or less.

Mansfield is particularly unhappy because the Senate, by the time of the annual Lincoln Birthday recess, had not passed a bill to expand enforcement powers of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. It's been pending since the session began Jan. 18.

Mansfield's strictures provoked some replies.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., said the Senate leadership itself has gone along with delays in votes which have led to the record Mansfield deplors.

Others emphasize that the leaders should have recognized the EEOC bill is controversial and quick passage was an impossibility.

The Senate has had 33 roll calls so far this year and average attendance for those votes has been 77.

Twelve senators have missed more than half of these votes. Five of them were out campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Of these five, Henry M. Jackson, Wash., has missed 32 of the roll calls; Edmund S. Muskie, Maine, 29; Vance Hartke, Ind., 27; Hubert H. Humphrey, Minn., 24; and George McGovern, S.D., 22.

Two senators, Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., and Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., have not been on hand at all this year.

Mundt, a stroke victim in 1969, has not been in the Senate since. Magnuson has been away because of his wife's serious illness.

The others with records of extensive absenteeism generally have been on foreign trips, which they regard as important Senate business, or have been home campaigning for re-election.

Compared with past years, the Senate's 1972 record is not quite as bad as Mansfield makes it out.

Congressional sessions are slow to get started, usually because work must be done in committees before floor action is possible. Often, by the time of the Easter recess, the Senate has not passed any major bills.

This year the Senate cleared two important measures, a foreign-aid money bill and legislation to end the West Coast dock strike.

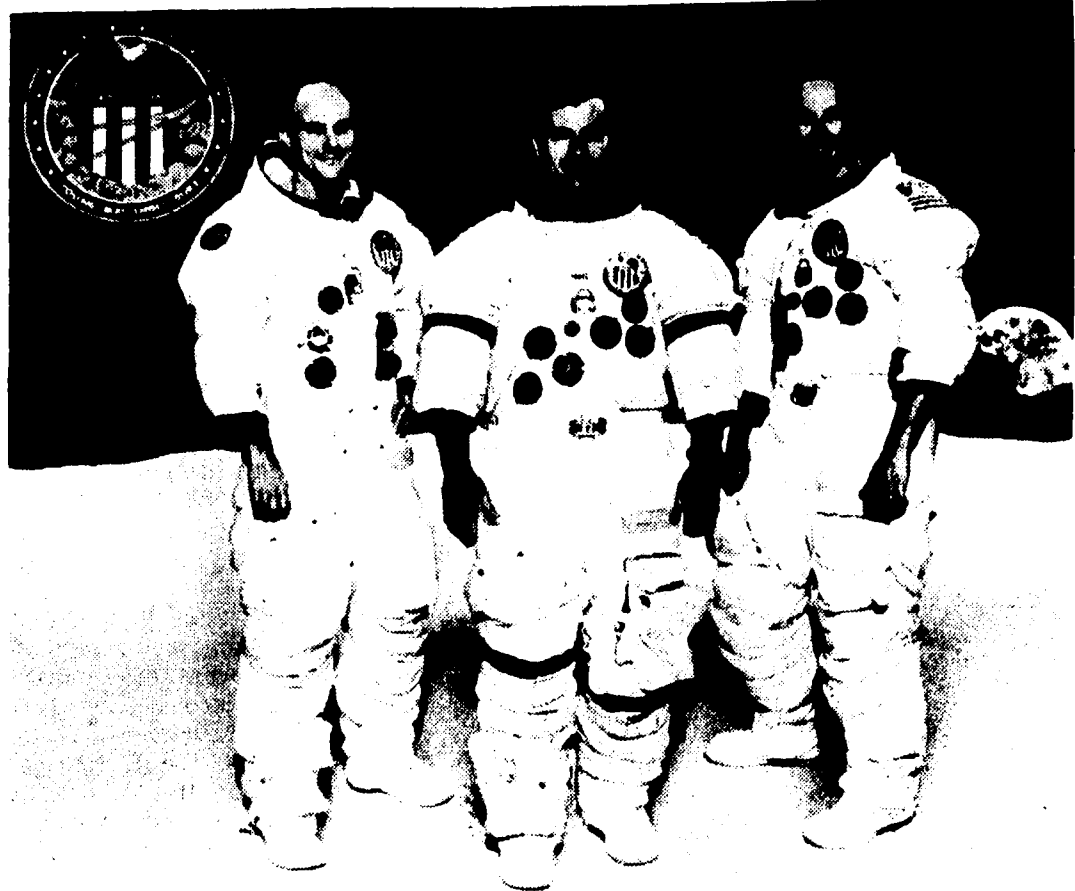

But Mansfield insists that the normal pace is not nearly good enough in 1972.

Episcopal Group Meets

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The convention of the Episcopal Diocese of Arkansas had adopted proposals to extend voting members to delegates representing the Episcopal Young Churchmen, a group for high school-age church members, and to college-age members of the church.

The convention adopted proposals Saturday that will allow the Episcopal Young Churchmen to elect three delegates and three alternates as convention members and will give college-age members of the church three delegates.

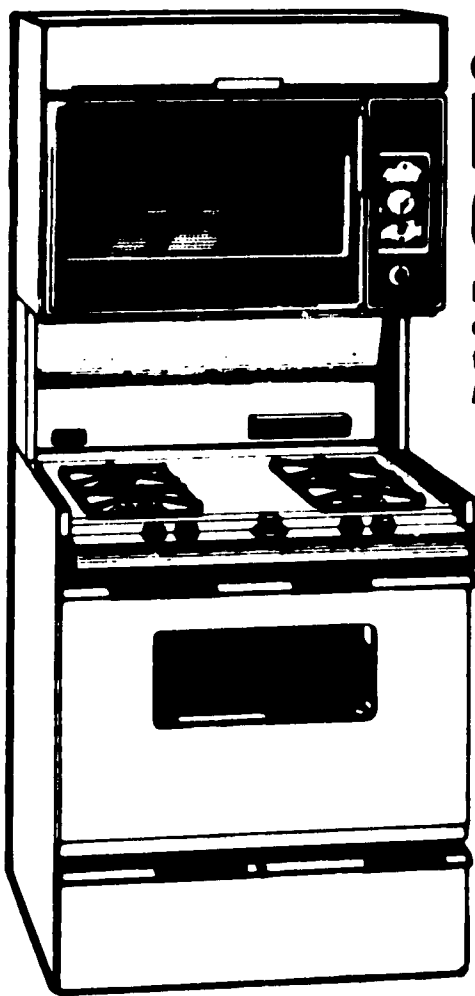

Both proposals must be voted on again at the next convention before the Diocese Constitution is changed.

Few Believe Russia Will Aid Cyprus

By ALEX EFTY
Associated Press Writer
NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — President Makarios may turn to the Soviet Union for help in standing up to the Greek colonels ruling in Athens, observers in Nicosia think. They believe the appeal to Moscow may prove futile, but they think the Greek junta has left Makarios nowhere else to turn.

The Greeks last week gave Makarios a three-point ultimatum designed to end the threat of civil war between the president and his bitter enemy, Col. George Grivas, and at the same time bring Makarios under the domination of Athens. To restore good relations between Greece and Turkey, Greek Premier George Papadopoulos and his associates want a settlement to the long and often bloody feud between the island's Greek majority and its Turkish minority. Makarios is not willing to make the concessions that the Greeks think necessary and maintains that the final say is his as the democratically elected leader of the Cypriot people. But the Greek ultimatum demands that Makarios and the government of Cyprus accept that the final say on a settlement belongs to Athens, as the "national center."

Grivas was the leader of the EOKA underground during the Cypriot independence struggle and is the leading advocate of Enosis, the union of Cyprus with Greece. The Turkish government and the Turkish Cypriots are violently opposed to Enosis, and Makarios and the Greek government have jointly repudiated the policy. But despite this basic difference between them and Grivas, the Greek ultimatum also demands that Makarios form a right-wing government of national unity including representatives of Grivas.

Greek Cypriot officials think Athens is supporting Grivas to force Makarios into accepting the Greek dictates. Grivas returned secretly to Cyprus from Athens last September and has a considerable militant following on the island. Observers believe that if Makarios rejects the Greek ultimatum, a clash with Grivas will be inevitable. If that happened, the 1,000-man force which Greece keeps on the island and the Greek officers of the Cypriot National Guard would intervene and neutralize both Makarios and Grivas, leaving the way open for Athens to impose a settlement.

Makarios has already turned once to the Soviet bloc, for a large quantity of arms which he recently imported secretly from Czechoslovakia. It is an open secret that he got them to protect his regime against Grivas. Constantine Panayiotakos, Greece's deputy foreign minister, warned that bloodshed would be unavoidable if the Czech arms were "distributed to irresponsible elements," meaning the Communists, who got 40 per cent of the votes in the last general election, and other leftists. The third point in the Greek ultimatum demanded that the arms be surrendered to the U.N. Peacekeeping Force which has been on the island since the 1963-65 civil war.

Bombs Wreck Irish Buildings

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer
BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Four bombshells hit in the Belfast area today as the outlawed Irish Republican Army pressed on with its battle to end Northern Ireland's links with Britain. No one was reported injured in the blasts. The bombs wrecked a bank, an office building and a furniture store. The fourth target was a paint store, which was extensively damaged.

The first bomb was left in the doorway of the Belfast Savings Bank on King Street, a busy shopping and office thoroughfare, a block from the bank. The bank manager spotted the bag and raised an alarm. Police quickly cleared hundreds of early shoppers and office workers from the street. The bomb exploded within 10 minutes, wrecking the Georgian bank building. It blew out windows over a wide area but no one was hurt because of the quick clearing of the street. There was sporadic shooting during the night between British troops and guerrilla gunmen. Marines shot and captured two men who they said were trying to raid a shirt factory at Ligoniel, west of Belfast. One was reported critically wounded. Three other men escaped in a car that later was found abandoned in downtown Belfast. Four thousand Catholics staged another illegal but peaceful march Sunday to demand immediate withdrawal of British troops from the province, abolition of the provincial Parliament and a halt to the jailing of guerrilla suspects without trial.

The National Report on What's Happening

Yarrow Will Get A Chile Reception

By ERNESTINE GUGLIELMO
ONE-THIRD OF THE GROUP—This month Peter Yarrow of the former Peter, Paul and Mary group will perform at the annual Vina del Mar International Song Festival in Chile. Peter is the first American entertainer invited to perform in Chile since the Allende government came to power. Since Peter has been active in peace movements and has been doing many benefit concerts, some people feel that Peter was asked because the Chilean government sensed that he would be sympathetic to their socialist causes. But Peter said he would "talk not only to supporters of the Allende government but also to those who criticize it from other points of the political spectrum." Peter Yarrow sounds like a very diplomatic ambassador when he describes his trip as "an attempt to further a cultural dialogue between Chilean and American citizens."

TAKING OFF—With the winter doldrums edging their way into even the most youthful hearts, some young people have managed to keep a steady stride through the slush and snow by thinking of summer vacation. For students planning to travel, a trip to Europe may brighten the summer and hold off those doldrums next winter with fine memories.

The Council on International Educational Exchange, a private nonprofit organization, offers some exciting (and inexpensive) tips for traveling students. CIEE has put it all together in a booklet called "Taking Off," which includes info on transportation, rail passes, car rentals, student ID cards and living and dining accommodations. Best of all, the book is free. Write to CIEE Student Travel Services, Dept. T, 777 United Nations Plaza, New York, N.Y. 10017.

INVASION OF THE NAVY—Sen. Jacob Javits nominated Barbara Jo Brimmer, 17, of Staatsburg, N.Y., to the 1972 plebe class at the U.S. Naval Academy. But his move to desexualize the 126-year-old academy has raised more than a few brows in disdain. When the New York Daily News inquiring photographer asked six men what they thought about admitting a woman to the "for men only" academy, five of the six were opposed and one was for with "certain reservations." One of the men, Daryl O. Haas, cadet second lieutenant at the U.S. Air Force Academy, said he was against admitting women to the three service academies. "They couldn't possibly absorb all the training one must get at these military, naval and air academies," he said, apparently not believing what the women's lib advocates have been saying. Javits said he would introduce legislation forcing the Navy to accept women if they didn't accept Miss Brimmer.

Folk Singer at Marianna

MARIANNA, Ark. (AP) — Folk Singer Joan Baez will tour Lee Court and Marianna today in preparation for a benefit concert she has agreed to do. Dr. Irwin Redlener's wife said Sunday night that Miss Baez is scheduled to arrive in Marianna around noon. Redlener operates the Lee County Cooperative Clinic. Mrs. Redlener said Miss Baez will tour the clinic and would inspect "various problems, including housing" in the area. Mrs. Redlener said a date and place for the concert has still not been set. Miss Baez had attempted to book the Mid-South Coliseum in Memphis for her concert earlier this month, but was told there were no available dates. Mrs. Redlener said Miss Baez will probably be escorted on her tour by personnel from the clinic, but she said her husband would probably remain at the clinic. Miss Baez agreed to do the benefit after learning of problems in Lee County and that the county ranked in the top ten of the poorest counties in the nation. FILMED IN MOROCCO NEW YORK (AP) — "Two People," an original contemporary love story by Richard DeRoy, will have its filming in Morocco. The film had been set for Columbia Pictures but has been taken over by Universal.

Oswald: "Your mother and I will be in Minneapolis when this article appears. The Minneapolis Athletic Club is running a four-day Jacoby spectacular. We will lecture on bridge, gin rummy, backgammon and any other games we may be asked about."

Jim: "Here is a mighty good hand for a rubber bridge lecture. South has only 15 high card points but he also has three tens and a couple of nines and his hand is well worth a no-trump opening. With 9 high card points and a five card club suit, North is correct in jumping to game and it is up to South to make his contract."

Oswald: "The contract is

Reader Fibs About Her Age

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—My true age is 62, but when I go for a checkup I give my age as 54 and that is what my husband believes me to be. Does the doctor get a true reading on the electrocardiogram, blood pressure and so forth, when I don't give him my right age?

Dear Reader—In the past 50 age group the electrocardiogram is usually not specific enough to be significantly affected by an age difference of eight years. The difference in blood pressure in people who are 54 and 62 is not that great either.

In general, doctors do a better job for their patients if they know the truth. Sometimes there are overriding considerations. Apparently you feel that it is important that your husband shouldn't know your true age and perhaps you are right.

One good way to keep a secret is not tell anybody. I would like for you to promise me, though, that if you have any serious illness or real medical problem develop that you will confide in your doctor about your true age at that point.

Dear Dr. Lamb—A few years ago I had an attack of angina pectoris. I have no heart condition and no chest pains. However, with too much effort doing anything, I have a dull feeling in my chest that stops me doing more, and often I take a nitroglycerin pill which I carry at all times.

My question: Is there any complete cure for angina or must I live with it? Will it in time cause a heart attack? I take many pills every day and have a heart tracing twice a year, all of which have proven normal. I am a good one. South should win the first spade because if he ducks, East is likely to shift to diamonds. Then if he takes the club finesse he will wind up in the soup because East will win and clear the diamonds. West will get in with the ace of hearts and South will only come to eight tricks.

Jim: "It is up to south to see that he should not take the club finesse immediately. He has an alternate line of play that gives him an extra chance for his contract although it does risk a set of several tricks if everything goes wrong."

Oswald: "At trick two, South should lead a heart toward dummy. Since West holds the ace of hearts South will be sure to make a heart trick which will give him his contract. In case East held the ace, South would still be able to try the club finesse."

Plans to Live Six Months in Cave

By GODFREY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer
DEL RIO, Tex. (AP) — Three months behind schedule, French cave explorer Michel Siffre prepared today to start six months of life alone beneath a mountain to prove his theory that life need not run according to the clock.

After solving the technical and financial problems which have plagued him since he arrived in Texas, the 33-year-old geologist and cave explorer planned to virtually bury himself alive on St. Valentine's Day starting at 1:00 p.m. CST.

When he emerges after 200 days, in early September, he hopes to have proved his point—that man can live without undue fatigue on a rhythm of 34-36 hours activity and 12-14 hours of natural sleep, instead of the normal 24-hour cycle lived in the outside world.

During the experiment, Siffre will be linked with four comrades at a base camp atop the mountain who will use sophisticated electronic equipment to keep tabs on his health from hour to hour. His only other link with the surface will be by telephone. But no one will give him the time of day.

Each day Siffre will report his awakening, his eating and his settling to sleep. Each day he will give his estimate of the date and time, unaided by any clock, watch or radio to tell the hour. His reports will be logged along with the real date and the real time.

When Siffre carried out a similar experiment for only two months at the Scarasson glacier in the Alpes-Maritimes of France in 1965, he called his comrades at the surface all hours of night as he became increasingly disoriented by lack of time sense.

Whereas he then worked under conditions of bitter cold, Midnight Cave, where he is enclosing himself on a ranch about 50 miles from here, enjoys a mild and stable temperature of 20 degrees Centigrade or 68 Fahrenheit throughout the year.

Although Siffre's experiment is partly backed by the French Defense Ministry and draws the keen interest of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Houston, the slow arrival of funds has hampered his operations since he came here Oct. 20.

"At one time we barely had enough to eat up at the base camp," he said.

Technical difficulties were many, too. His generator repeatedly broke down and his team had trouble in keeping the electronic equipment in their tent laboratory from freezing in the bitter winter nights.

The generator problem was solved by the aid of the Civil Defense at San Antonio, whose director, Martin Eser, provided two powerful generators and other equipment.

Siffre spent the last week alone in his tent atop the mountain, carrying out pre-experiment tests. These included continuous recording of his temperature, studying of his sleep stages by electrodes attached to his body at night, and a whole series of medical observations.

The last hours today were being spent in carrying down the last of the scientific equipment he will use below ground. The underground installations are complete and Siffre himself was not going down until he goes to stay.

Then, under the anxious eyes of Nathalie, 20, his bride of just over a year, he was to step on the swaying steel rope ladder and slowly descend for six months alone under millions of tons of limestone rock.

The members of his supporting team of scientists—all French—are Philippe Englander, 31, Gerard Cappa, 28, and Raymond Valente, 23, all like Siffre himself from Nice, and Jacques Chabert, 30, from Barbison, near Paris. Englander and Chabert have taken part in similar experiments, of much shorter duration, themselves.

Concerned Over Cyprus

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials are concerned about reported secret arms shipments to Cyprus and the resulting possibility of civil war on that strategic island in the eastern Mediterranean.

Twice before, in the 1960s, the United States came to the brink of an involvement in Cyprus' troubles because two U.S. allies, Greece and Turkey, were on opposite sides.

This time, officials said, the trouble is between rival Greek Cypriot factions. But American authorities fear fighting also would affect the Turk Cypriot minority and revive tensions between Athens and Ankara.

Perhaps more significantly, trouble on Cyprus could jeopardize the relationship in the area between the United States and the Soviet Union, both represented there by substantial naval forces.

According to recent reports, Pentagon sources said, several thousand weapons manufactured in Communist Czechoslovakia were landed secretly at a small out-of-the-way port last month and moved to Nicosia, the capital.

Intelligence reports said the weapons were for a special constabulary formed by President Makarios to counter Gen. George Grivas, who is backed by the right-wing government of Greece.

Late last week a high-ranking Greek foreign-ministry official said bloodshed would be inevitable if Makarios expanded his constabulary force and distributed arms to what the official called "irresponsible elements."

The official confirmed the Greek government wrote Ma-karios, seeking formation of a Cypriot government of national unity to include Grivas' representatives.

Meanwhile, U.S. officials said the Turkish government is becoming anxious about the Cyprus situation and is threatening to arm Turkish Cypriots for their own defense.

The danger of new fighting on Cyprus comes at a time when the United States is emphasizing the importance of both Turkish and Greek navies in helping shield NATO's southern flank against a strong Soviet fleet in the eastern Mediterranean.
